

Christmas Cookie Cut and Sort Individual or small group activity.

Print on card or paper - the colors are light to save ink. Teacher cuts the cookie page into horizontal strips. Child cuts on the lines between each cookie. The cookies can be sorted by color or by shape. Use the plate as a sorting mat, and print as many plates as you need. To sort by shape, tape a cookie on the plate as a "clue". To sort by color, write the color name (in color) on the plate. Cookies can also be counted.

To use as a small group activity, begin with a collection of cut cookies. Name the shapes and colors. Hold up each cookie and ask the children to describe, then take turns to place on the correct plate. Paper plates can be used instead of the printed one.

I add FREE items often. Follow me on TpT and Pinterest to get them as soon as they are listed.
